ELECTRIC SLEEP

Dr. Louise Robinovitch Makes Successful Demonstration to Paris Surgeons of Her Anaesthetic.

Paris, France.—Dr. Louise Robinovitch, who has been experimenting with her discoveries along the line of electric sleep at St. Anne's Hospital, where the city has fitted up a laboratory for her, gave a successful demonstration before several of the most prominent physicians in Paris recently. Among those present were Dr. Magnan, doyen of St. Anne's, and M. Pique, one of the best-known surgeons in Paris.

Dr. Robinovitch showed the physicians in her laboratory the result of her work. Finally she put a rabbit under the influence of electric sleep, and performed a slight operation on the animal. Later the rabbit was electrocuted and brought back to life by the resuscitating force of electricity used by the doctor.

A certain surgeon in the French Navy asked to have the test applied to him, so Dr. Robinovitch applied the test of local anaesthesia, placing one electric pole in his right hand and the other at his elbow. Then needles were passed through his forearm. The surgeon and his arm were absolutely numb. He felt the touch of the needle, but no pain, and the feeling of the electricity was extremely pleasant.

To an amphitheatre on the first floor of St. Anne's they went from the laboratory, and here Dr. Robinovitch introduced a human patient whom she had cured. He was a chronic patient of the hospital who had lost the power of using the right side of his body. In less than a month the doctor cured him by the use of electricity. Later she tried experiments in electric sleep on him, and even tried the voltage necessary to revive an electrocuted man. The patient experienced no unpleasant results, he said, and even enjoyed the sensation.

At the close of the conference Dr. Robinovitch was warmly applauded by her colleagues. This woman has made remarkable strides in making electric sleep more practicable, and hopes that in a few years she may be able to do away entirely with chloroform, ether and the usual anaesthetics.

Cruel Fussy Mothers.

Across the aisle from me sat one of the "fussy" kind of mothers with her little girl, evidently about five years old. The mother didn't leave the child in peace for one minute. She took off her hat; smoothed her hair; she repinned her collar; she wiped her face with her pocket-handkerchief; she took her from her seat and stood her on the floor to straighten her frock; then she sat her back again. She took off her hair ribbon and retied it; she looked in her eye to see if there was a under in it; then she began at the beginning and did all these things over again.

The child grimly endured. Evidently she had been accustomed to it all her short life. The world to her was a queer, tiresome place in which mothers exhausted their energies and got their nerves on edge by paying useless attention to little girls.

A physician who sat behind me watched the scene.

"Has the woman no sense?" he said to me in an undertone. "Every touch pushes that child nearer the sanitarium that will one day open its doors to take her in as sure as fate."

"Poor little one!" I said. "Is there no hope for her?"

"Not with that mother," grimly replied the doctor.

Eggs for Invalids.

Cover frying pan with cream. When not beat as many eggs as wanted, season with a little salt and keep stirring until light.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from a drop to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

FAMILY MENAGED, SAYS BISHOP

Divorce and Lowering Birth Rate Threaten Great Evil, According to Episcopal Prelate.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Three great evils threatening the family life in this country were named by Bishop William Crowell Doane, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of Albany, N. Y., in his report on "Family Life" to the Federal Council of Churches. "Family life is threatened," said Bishop Doane, "first by the lowered sense of the sanctity of marriage, second by the prevalence of divorce and third by the alarming decrease in the birth rate."

"There has been a decline in the birth rate in every Western country, most marked among the English speaking people. Comparing the birth rate of 1894 to 1898 with that of 1874 to 1878, the decrease in Norway was four per cent.; in France, fourteen per cent.; in England and Wales, seventeen per cent., and in the United States the decline in the birth rate is greater than in any other country. Many causes have been alleged for this decline in the birth rate. Some of these, such as the tendency to marry at a later age than formerly, have, no doubt, influenced the birth rate, but it is admitted beyond all power of dispute that it is largely due to the loss of the sense of responsibility to God for the fruits of marriage, resulting in deliberate avoidance or prevention of child bearing.

"The moral evil of this habit claims our first attention. We must dismiss from our minds the belief that restriction is due to the pressure of necessity; the evidence which we have had before us convinces us that the practice prevails more among the well to do than among the poor. It arises from the wish to escape the burdens which might lessen social prestige or limit the opportunities of pleasure; it is a symptom of the spirit which shirks responsibility and resents self-denial, and which results in the weakening of character.

"Another danger is that of the easy divorce tearing up the roots and pulling away the foundations of the family and family life. Differ as we may in the various Protestant churches upon the ground on which divorce may be allowed, and various as are the laws in different States, there is, I think, a common consensus of opinion in all the churches, that, in itself, divorce is a menace to society and a threatening ruin to the home. More and more, I believe, the States will come to limit causes; more and more the churches will come to recognize the single exception supposed to be made by our Lord."

CRAWLS WITH BROKEN LEG.

Loses Way in Storm and Falls Over Precipice into a Creek.

Weaverville, Cal.—Finding night coming, C. W. White, court reporter of Trinity County, who was riding horseback and had left the trail to Douglas City, dismounted in a storm and tried to find his way afoot. Coming to what he thought in the darkness was a log he stepped over it and tumbled over a precipice seventy-five feet high and rolled into the swollen waters of Brown Creek below, breaking a leg.

He was miles from a human habitation in the hardest storm ever seen in the county. On hands and knees he crawled toward the trail all night and until 10 o'clock the next morning, when Miss Maele Bigelow, riding over the trail, which is seldom travelled at this time of the year, discovered Mr. White lying below her on the mountainside and sent for help.

Woman Kills a Big Deer.

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—One of the largest deer ever seen in this vicinity was killed by Mrs. B. A. Gruneth, wife of the postmaster at Ingram. The buck weighed 225 pounds, measured ten feet from tip to nose and his antlers had seventeen points.

Mr. and Mrs. Gruneth were taking a stroll on the outskirts of the village, Mrs. Gruneth preceding ahead carrying the rifle, while Mr. Gruneth followed, carrying the baby. Suddenly he saw his wife fire and a deer rushed across the road. Mrs. Gruneth fired again and laid the deer low. Mrs. Gruneth is an inexperienced hunter and this was one of the few shots she has fired.

An Important Decision.

Decides that Wholesale Liquor Dealers Cannot Bottle and Wholesale Beer.

There has been handed down recently by the superior court a decision in which the case of Stambaugh is decided with a very strong bearing upon some of the liquor licenses in this section. The decision cites that the holder of a license under the act of July 30, 1897, P. L. 464, as a wholesale dealer in vinous spirituous, malt or brewed liquors has no right under such license to purchase beer in barrels and kegs and transfer the beer thus purchased into bottles and sell the same at wholesale. This may be used against a number of dealers who are following this practice, and may result in some of the licenses being revoked upon these grounds.
